

The popular morning studies in literature of last winter are to be resumed next Wednesday morning at half-past ten, at the home of Mrs. Walter F. Frear on Punahou street. In the opening talk of a series of four on George Meredith, Mrs. Philip L. Weaver will take up 'The Ordeal of Richard Feverel'. The Egoist and Diana of the Crossways are to follow and the fourth morning will be devoted to the poems. A common impression that attendance at these morning studies is by personal invitation is altogether a mistake. Anyone interested can get further details of the work from Mrs. Joseph Platt Cooke or Mrs. William L. Love.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday morning, October 12, when Margaret K. Timmons and James Macconel were united in marriage by the Reverend R. Felmy. Mr. and Mrs. Macconel left on the Mauna Kea for Hawaii and will reside at Hackfeld and Prospect streets on their return.

As last announced the Guild of St. Andrew's was to hold a delicatessen sale at the Hawaiian Hotel, but it is now decided to hold it at the beautiful new Parish House. The time will be the same, the afternoon of November the twenty-fourth, and there will be many delicious eatables for sale. The needlework table under the supervision of Mrs. J. F. Melanphy is making good progress and there will be on sale garments of various kinds, such as children's clothes, ladies' dressing gowns, aprons and underwear. The afternoon of the sale will be made very attractive with music, ice cream, home-made candies and tea booths. The proceeds are to go toward the furnishing of the Priory.

Mrs. Julian Monsarrat, who is the house guest of her mother, Mrs. L. A. Coney, has been the motif for a continuous string of little dinners, luncheons and theater parties during the past week.

Chronicle.—Prior to his departure for New York on Friday, Marshall Darrach will be the guest of honor at a dinner at the Bohemian Club on Thursday evening, at which the genial clubman, who has made many friends during the few months he has spent here, will be wished 'bon voyage' and a speedy return in true Bohemian fashion. Mr. Darrach, for his scholarly interpretation of Shakespeare, and as the author of creditable verse, has been most cordially received by the literary men of the city.
